AIDING STOCKMEN

HIT BY DROUGHT

To assist cattle raisers in the Southwest, where drought has caused a great scarcity of feed, from suffering financial loss and to prevent hundreds of thousands of beef breeding cattle from being slaughtered and removed from the country's sources of meat, field agents of the United States Department of Agriculture in cooperation with local and state authorities, especially the Texas cattle-raisers' associations, are transferring cattle to the Southwest and Corn belt States, where feed is plentiful. Up to the middle of September 79 carloads of cattle had been shipped to the Southeast. Arrangements have been made so that cattle may be shipped from the drought-stricken area at a reduction of 25 per cent from the regular freight rate. For the information and convenience of those wishing to buy cattle the department representatives are issuing a weekly market report showing the receipts, age, weight, condition, and price, also giving a list of breeders who have pure-bred cattle for sale. This movement of cattle is supplying the increasing demand for stock in the Southeastern States and is expected to be an important factor in building up the beef-cattle industry in that section. The field agents are making a special effort to have all available roughages properly safeguarded to be utilized for feeding purposes during the coming season.

"BY HIS WORKS"

With the Red Cross Here and Over There

Christmas Boxes For Soldiers—

Just as soon as the Pacific Division receives soldiers quotas from Chapters the Christmas boxes will be sent out. It is necessary for these boxes to reach Chapters not later than Nov. 1, so all possible haste should be made in ascertaining the number of enlisted men in each territory. Chapters should make very plain through the local papers that only holders of the Christmas Parcel labels — which the soldiers are to send home by mail — will be given a box or allowed to send a package.

Volunteer Nurses For Influenza—

With influenza present in the Pacific Division in epidemic form, the Red Cross faces a civilian as well as a military emergency. The call for women with any kind of nursing experience, and those who will go into households to take charge of children or such members of the family as are stricken with the disease are sorely needed. Every woman who is qualified to help in any way is directed to the nearest Red Cross Chapter Committee on Influenza for full information. Compensation and expenses will be allowed. The situation is serious — are our women serious enough to face it and scientifically combat the contagion?

AIRPLANES DROP CIGARETTES FOR BOYS AT FRONT

Showers of cigarettes fell from the skies on the American fighters driving the Germans out of the St. Mihiel salient. This fact was announced in a cablegram received by William J. Mulligan, chairman of the Knights of Columbus Committee on War activities, at National United War Work Campaign headquarters. From American airplanes 20,000 packages of cigarettes were dropped into the hands of infantrymen and artillerymen pressing forward in their victorious squeeze which dislodged the enemy from the stronghold they had held for more than three years. Each package was stamped "Compliments of Knights of Columbus."

At the same time, cable dispatches announce, Y. M. C. A. workers on foot moved among the soldiers, handing out chocolates and cigarettes. On land and in the air these fearless workers kept pace with the American fighters moving forward in the first offensive exclusively executed by our troops.

The airplane service for distribution of cigarettes to the soldiers, while the battle was in progress and the ordinary foot or motor methods of reaching the men in the front lines were unavailable, was established by Martin V. Merle, of San Francisco, a K. C. secretary, with the cooperation of an American airplane unit. After the fight soldiers related how pleasantly surprised they had been when cigarettes dropped from on high. They declared no service in their behalf ever had pleased them as much as this ultra-modern delivery of "smokes."

FOUR YEARS IN FAMOUS PRINCESS PAT REGIMENT

Torn by shrapnel and bullets, covered with wounds and a victim of "gassing" Sergeant James Stanley of the famous "Princess Pats" regiment of Canada, has just returned to America after four years and two days of participation in everything the deadly fight against the Huns has to offer. Discharged because of his disabilities Sergeant Stanley intends to devote the remainder of the war to awakening the country and Canada to the tremendous work being done by the Salvation Army, and the other big war work organizations on the battle fields. He comes to America in the interests of the United War Campaign for $170,500,000.

Sergeant Stanley fairly brims over when he talks of the great work of the Salvationists, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus and others are doing on the battle front. He says, "I can't make a speech, but I can tell a story, and that is what I am going to do."

And here is part of his story. "When I went to France, in August, 1914, with the Princess Pats, I found the British Salvationists workers right up in the front lines with rifles in their hands.

"Christmas Eve of 1914 I will never forget, for up into the firing line to us they came with boxes of things to eat and little presents to cheer us. But it was that way everywhere. You couldn't turn around but that one was waiting to serve you, serve in a quiet, unobtrusive way, always seeking to help.

"Only the men workers came up into the firing lines on the British front,

Some of the Hospitals in France—

Major Marshal Hale, manager of the Pacific division, American Red Cross, now in France on leave of absence, has written an interesting letter to his brother, R. B. Hale.

He tells of a hospital that is so big the nurses have to use bicycles to get around on their duties. He says he doesn't believe it is possible to conceive what a twenty thousand bed hospital means unless one sees it.

Excerpts from the letter follow:

"Your very interesting and newsy letter of August 10th was received this morning and found us just moving into our new offices.

"Capt. J. F. Coulston, President of the First National Bank of Pasadena, is my assistant and we have an office together. I find him a splendid organizer.

"James Hazen Hyde and Major Pierce came down to Lyons and introduced me at a luncheon, at which the prominent and influential people of Lyons were present. General Abner, at the head of the French Military was present and also Mayor Herriot — he is one of the leading citizens of France, has considerable influence and is popular as a probable candidate for the president of France. Clarence Carrigan, a brother of Andrew Carrigan, is council here and very popular.

"There is hardly anything that the Red Cross asks for, that the authorities are not ready to grant.

"We have charge of the repatriates coming through Evian, there are probably more refugees taken care of in this zone than any other in France, and we have five or six large base hospitals, ranging from 1,000 to 20,000 beds each. Base hospital No. 30 is in our zone and base hospital No. 47 is just over the line.

"Capt. Coulston and I made a trip last week, visited base hospital No. 30 and also base hospital No. 47. It certainly was a pleasure to call on them. Saw Dr. Frankenhimer, Mrs. Tezereau at base hospital No. 30. Dr. Weeks was at the front, and Dr. Kilgore was in Paris. Saw Dr. Levinson, Dr. Arthur McKenny who wanted to be remembered to you, and several of the other San Francisco doctors. Tried to see Dr. Roncovieri, but he was not around. They invited us to have pancakes, which we accepted — they are the first I have had since leaving home.

"I don't believe it possible to conceive what a 20,000 bed hospital means. We furnish bicycles to the nurses, because the distances are so great and it saves them many steps. The Red Cross established canteens, recreation huts and other comforts for the patients, and help the doctors and nurses in getting conveniences which they would otherwise be obliged to go without.

"You have no idea of the difficulty in making progress when everything is so hard to get. Stenographers and chauffeurs are scarce. At present there are plenty of Ford automobiles, but not enough men to set them up. It is hard to get enough typewriters for the stenographers.

"We cannot purchase more than 500 francs worth at a time without getting permission of the A. E. F., and if it is 1,000 francs we also have to get permission from the French authorities, and it takes time — sometimes two or three weeks, to get these permissions through."

but they were right in the front line trenches. Back a little ways were the lassies, who met the men going up the tired and sick and wounded, some coming back, and served hot coffee and food and passed a cheering word. But it is different now, for the American lassies and other welfare workers are right up in the first line trenches with the men. The Salvationists take pay for food and drink when the boys have it, but when a boy doesn't have enough money he gets just as much as the boy who has. He can pay back when he gets his pay, if he is inclined, but he never wants.

"Danger means nothing to the workers with the boys. They have been killed, and wounded, shot at and gassed. They are prepared to meet death and the savage Hun has no terrors for them. They work like trained soldiers, cool and collected at all times, and they have saved hundreds of boys' lives. They have huts and ambulances. They constantly are studying the situation to see how they can improve their labors and they do it without fanfare. The have certainly won the hearts of every soldier in France. I have never heard them criticized and it means "the hospital" for anyone here to say anything derogatory to a returned soldier about them. If America only knew the real story of what these self-sacrificing people do "over there" their forces in France would be four-fold what they are now through the demand from the loyal United States."

Republican Ticket

GENERAL ELECTION, NOV. 5TH

The Republicans of Mohave County have no apology to offer for placing a partially filled ticket before the voters at the coming election. In making the nominations places were filled where the public welfare demanded that a contest be made for the office and men were nominated who had the qualifications that would appeal to the voters business judgment rather than to prejudice or partisanship.

We shall endeavor to have our candidates meet the voters of the county before election day but in keeping with the spirit of the times when Conservation is public policy no extensive campaign will be made.

Half-Sole AND Patriotism

One of the patriotic duties a car-owner can perform in these trying times is the conservation of the tires on his car.

Rubber and fabric—the foundation and capstone of tire manufacture—are playing mighty important parts in the prosecution of the war, in which we are all interested so vitally. In order to secure this rubber and fabric, ships are required; and every available ship is being used in the transportation of men and supplies to French soil.

Of a necessity then, the importation of rubber must be curtailed, and such curtailment has caused the Government to request two things—first, a reduction in the number of sizes by the manufacturer; second, a most careful conservation of tires on the part of the car-owner.

The Gates Half-Sole contains only about half the amount of fabric and rubber that a tire of corresponding size contains, although making a brand-new, stronger than ever tire of the tread-worn casing to which it is applied.

So—a Gates Half-Sole Tire is saving 50 per cent of the fabric and rubber, releases that amount for Government purposes. It costs but one-half as much as a new tire, eliminates the expense of repairing punctures and will give from 3,500 to 10,000 more miles of service.

In money and material the Gates Half-Sole is performing its full share towards conservation.

A Half-Sole on a car is a badge of honor—visible evidence that its owner is helping the Government by saving in every possible way.
